Executive Summary

- Digital commerce and experience leader with a hybrid background in digital design/UX, product and engineering. Over 15 years driving digital growth, experience design and optimization.
- Proven record in boosting CVR (+16% at Givenchy, +26% at Acne Studios), improving performance (+21% speed), and delivering future-facing digital experiences (3D, AR, spatial).
- Lead end-to-end shopping journeys from strategy, execution, optimization, partnering with creative, engineering, UX, product and C-level executives to secure buy-in.

Professional Experience

Givenchy (LVMH) | Global Digital Experience Director

July 2021 - present | Paris, France

- Own the global digital experience across e-commerce and brand platforms, translating the Artistic Director's vision into scalable, high-performing digital systems across markets.
- Led a global redesign aligned with the creative brief, delivering +16% CVR and +21% site speed, while modernising both the UX/UI and delivery workflows. Established KPI reporting cadence.
- Drove funnel optimization end-to-end, using insights to remove friction and improve conversion.
- Established a global digital roadmap, agile operating model, and design system, significantly improving delivery velocity and cross-team alignment.
- Introduced digital innovation with future-facing experiences into the customer journey (3D, AR, digital product passport/traceability), to boost user engagement and reinforce brand loyalty.
- Actively contribute to LVMH Experience Design and Innovation communities, shaping group-level thinking on luxury UX and emerging technologies.

Acne Studios | Head of Digital Design & Product

May 2014 - July 2021 | Stockholm, Sweden

- Defined and led the brand's digital strategy, contributing to 3x e-commerce growth over 7 years.
- Delivered a landmark redesign that increased CVR by 26% and became an industry reference.
- Built and led a cross-functional core team of 7 (engineering, design, product) plus a near-shore dev team of 10, creating an in-house digital capability and significantly increasing velocity.
- Led multi-year transformations including replatforming, checkout redesigns, OMS and system integrations and multiple global redesigns: modernising both experience and operating model.
- Partnered with regions to develop market-specific strategies that improved local performance.
